An evaluation or assessment is a necessary step in determining eligibility for special education services.

In this workshop, Noelle Zarembski Freeport School District Psychology Intern will cover the topics of evaluations and assessments relating to educational needs, related services and special education eligibility.

This workshop is for you if you have wondered:

- .what types of assessments and evaluations are used
- .what they are used for
- .what it all means for your student

This workshop is open to anyone. Refreshments served. 2 CPDU's will be offered and Certificates of Completion are available.

Noelle has a Bachelors of Science Degree in Psychology from Western Illinois University. She is currently a forth-year student at The Chicago School of Professional Psychology working towards an Educational Specialist degree in School Psychology.
